

ABSTRACT

An implant with a surface structure on at least a portion of a surface of the implant, wherein the surface structure is selected to facilitate, improve and enhance ingrowth characteristics of the implant. A method of providing an implant with a selected surface structure is encompassed.